A Surprising Profile of Women

Whether she realizes it or not, a woman learned much about what men are "really" like, and how she fits into a world mostly run by men, by watching and listening to the first man in her life, her father.

But what if she missed something? What if there are secrets buried deep that most men will not share ... secrets that could change a woman's entire understanding of what men (and her own dad) are "really" like?

In this lively discussion, behaviorist James I. Bond will take your audience on his incredible journey of discovery, into a world rarely seen by women—the private fears and feelings of men (as experienced through the eyes of fathers with daughters). Through all this your audience will discover unexpected ways a woman's self-image and how she interacts with men have been molded by the relationship she's had with her own father. Most importantly, your audience will learn how hundreds of women have opened the door to unexpected happiness, often for the first time in their lives, by using these powerful secrets in their life.

As a bonus, your audience will also find out where they can get their own personal copy of the book, "7 Things Most Women Don't Know About Men," absolutely free!

Your audience will learn:

- Strange things most women misunderstand about men;
- The curse of the commitment-free life;
- Surprising ways women are affected by their dads;
- The two ways most men screw up communication, that cause the most problems;
- The one need men have that when unmet can actually lead to suicide;
- Why so many men fear women;
- How easily a man's feelings are hurt, but how difficult it is to know when it's happening;
- And much more!

AUDIENCE PARTICIPATION

If possible, your studio or call-in audience will want to get involved in the discussion making for an even more lively show.

These are powerful topics that touch the emotional hot buttons for audiences everywhere.

Women and Men in your audience will provide examples from their own life and from people they know... and this will jazz up the show even more!

After behaviorist James I. Bond discovered his relationship with his middle daughter Lauren wasn't as great as he thought, he interviewed other dads hoping to figure out what went wrong.

What he discovered was more profound than he expected, and led to launch of The Father-Daughter Project and publication of the groundbreaking book, "The Secret Life of Fathers" (from Intimate Interviews with 101 Fathers of Daughters).

"7 Things Most Women Don't Know About Men" are the 7 themes that came from these interviews.
